A note about the next edition

Dear Mira,

Thank you for making room for a slower kind of document. We have prepared the next edition with generous margins, clear hierarchy, and a small set of illustrations that can carry their meaning without competing with the page.

The best printed pages give the reader somewhere to pause.

The enclosed materials include the poster proof, the ticket sheet, and a short story from Asteria. Each file is designed to remain legible when printed in a quiet office or shared across a table.

Please send any notes by Friday afternoon. We will make the final pass and prepare the press-ready bundle after that review.

With care,

Ren Ito
Editorial director
